

Unite with the global product community on #WorldProductDay

July 19th, 2022

Happy World Product Day, the day product people will come together to celebrate the craft of product management.

It's a day of sharing insights and having great discussions with other product managers from all over the world. We encourage you to bring World Product Day to your own team and unite with the global product community!

This year's theme is Product Firsts

This #WorldProductDay on July 19th, we're celebrating product firsts. We want to know how you first got into product, what your first wins were, any advice you can give to new people joining the world of product, and any advice on stepping up into a leadership role. Whether you're new to the world of product or a product veteran, we're all going to be uniting to celebrate the craft of product.

How you can get involved now!

Show support to your product peers and Vote in the 2022 ProductTank Awards

Complete the "How I got my job in product" survey and get featured on our blog

Register to your local ProductTank Meetup group

Learn more about the history of World Product Day

How you can get involved on July 19th!

 Share your product tips, insights, memories, and celebrations on LinkedIn, Twitter, Instagram, and Facebook using the hashtag #WorldProductDay

 Join in with our product discussions on social!
Mind the Product Twitter
ProductTank Twitter
LinkedIn
Facebook
Instagram
Slack

 Join one of the ProductTank events happening on the day!

 Get together with your team and discuss things you wish you knew when you first started as a product manager

 Share a pic of you with your product team celebrating using #WorldProductDay

 Share a pic of one of your first days as a product manager using #WorldProductDay mind the

PRODUCT

